

ProductVity Station.

It allows the integration of different industry systems and/or hardware into a single platform, enabling you to manage your company's most useful information in a very easy and displaying it dynamically and attractively on a screen. ProductVity Station, a product from RedLion, uses software called Crimson, which provides a wide range of functionalities applicable to the industry.

